DEEDS AND MORTGAGES.

We call the attention of our friends and the public generally, to the fact that we have Deeds and Mortgages for sale, printed on heavy paper and in good style.

We were blessed with a fine growing shower of rain on Tuesday evening last, which revived things up considerably. We suggest to the weather clerk that a repetition occasionally, of such favors, would be thankfully received.

The Masonic Celebration at Muncie, was a grand affair—a success in every particular. Our Lodge did not attend, as it was expected to do, on account of the show in town that day, which kept our business men at home.

A meeting was held on Saturday last to determine whether the Fair should be celebrated in Winchester this year. We were not present, and have received no regular report of their action, but learn that it was determined to postpone any action of the kind until September, on account of the hot weather, when there will be a grand soldier's celebration.

All right, gentlemen, we're not going to grumble, but would like to remind some of you of the fact that it wasn't too hot for you to celebrate the Fourth of July at Vicksburg and Gettysburg, in 1863.

An exciting encounter took place in Franklin township, one day last week, between Col. Bales and Mrs. John French. We have none of the particulars, further than the evidence disclosed the fact that the Col. "knocked her cold."

A showman named Charley Murray was left here sick, by the Obrien's Company, entirely destitute of money. Learning this, the Obrien's men generously made him up a purse of fifty dollars. Charley is an old showman, and well liked by his chums. The Obrien's men expressed a great deal of indignation at the treatment he received, and charged that it was characteristic of Obrien's.

CHLOROFORM.—An attempt was made to burglarize John R. Routh's residence on Saturday night last. Chloroform was administered to Mr. Routh and his lady, but they were aroused and raised an alarm, before getting entirely under its influence. It being early in the night—about 11 o'clock—several of the neighbors had not retired, and came to their assistance immediately. Two of the would-be burglars were seen, but in the confusion made their escape by the back way.

Several of our neighboring towns have been raided by these sneak thieves, and Winchester will doubtless receive their attention. Our citizens should be prepared to give them a warm reception.

The Herald wants gas in Anderson. We thought there had been plenty of that article, since Hardesty settled there.

Several residences were broken into in Winchester a few nights since. The burglar informed that it was done by some fact young men of that place, who were also engaged in pasting obscene caricatures of leading citizens, and says that whisky was at the bottom of it.

The Superintendent of the Delaware county Poor Asylum reports one death during the last quarter, in the following style:

The death of old Mr. Lindsey occurred March 24th, and was occasioned by pneumonia of a low type, superinduced by a few weeks of incessant excitement and hallowing. He was 83 years old, and in his prime had passed in the higher walks of life, having been a lawyer and seller of wine, women and children, but the demon, King Alcohol, was too much for him.

"And John Brown's soul goes marching on."

The Knightstown Banner comes to us enlarged to an eight column paper. We are glad to see its prosperity. Deem is a worthy young man, and deserves success. He has by his own unaided exertions made the Banner what it is. The business men of Knightstown should extend to him a liberal support.

The following items appeared in the Muncie Times of last week, in the order given:

Mrs. Urban, of New Elizabeth, Randolph county, caused her own death, amid horrible sufferings, by pouring coal oil on a lighted fire on Monday of last week, virtually destroying herself.

P. S. Not quite. The ruling of the Central Convention requires a majority of all the votes cast. So the race is to be run the old time. If they'll send down here we'll lend them an ex-auditor.

We are afraid that all the Muncie drunks didn't pass the Times office last week.

The new editors of the Winchester Journal should devote a week or two to learning how to spell "Delaware." The name occurs a number of times in their paper of last week, and is invariably spelled "Delware."

The county joins Randolph on the west, and there is no excuse for such ignorance of the proper orthography of its name.—Elington Banner.

Pretty well done for a man who goes to Chicago to get his paper printed. We stand corrected.

The Winchester Journal comes to us with the names of Deeson & Marsh as proprietors. Of Mr. Marsh we know but little, but Mr. A. C. Deeson is a solid young man who has held a high and responsible official position in Hancock county. We have known him for fifteen years. He is a good writer and will make the Journal one of the best papers in Eastern Indiana.—Knightstown Banner.

CORRESPONDENCE.

FROM HUNTSVILLE.

The funeral of William Denton, of Missouri, who was killed by the accidental discharge of his gun, was preached in the M. E. Church on Sunday, June 19th, by Rev. Wm. C. Bowen.

Mrs. Colly, of Jay Co., Ind., delivered a course of five lectures on spiritual philosophy at the school house in District No. 9, (Salina) commencing June 17th and ending June 19th.

See Deut. 18th, Chap. 9th, 10th, 11th Verses; Matt. 24th, Chap. 24th verse; 24 Peter 21, Chap. 1st and 21 verse; 1st John 4th, Chap. 3rd verse; 1st Tim. 4th, Chap. 1st and 21 verse.

[The above was crowded out last week.—Eds. JOURNAL.]
Wheat cutting will be commenced this morning—June 20th. The high-estimate on the crop in this township, is that there will be barely enough raised to bread and seed it. Grass and oats are light—probably an average crop. Corn looks promising, and with a common season, we may expect a bountiful yield. "Truck patch and garden stuff" is doing well, with the exception of the injury done by the Colorado bug to potatoes. They are hard to get rid of. We have yet learned of no way to get to destroy them.

Paris Green (paint) is recommended, but as it is very poisonous, most people do not like to tamper with it.
George Tickle, who was among the first proprietors of the steam saw mill at this place, and who has been rambling in the West for eighteen years, was in town yesterday, visiting old acquaintances. Mr. Tickle has seen a "thing or two" since he left here for the West. He reports that he has been as high as thirteen days without any food, only such as he could pick up—roots and vegetation—that he browsed and rooted for.

Allen Holbert, Esq., was visiting his mother, the Widow Brooks, a few days since. Mr. H. has been a resident of Iowa fourteen years, has not been to Indiana during that time, till this trip. The funeral of Andrew Farquhar was preached at White Chapel on 20th inst., by Rev. John Right Johnson. Text: Phil. 2, 2nd and 21.

Rev. Wm. C. Bowen will preach the funeral of Barrett Barnett at Mt. Pleasant Church, on Sunday, July 3d. Text, chosen by the deceased: Matt. 21, 4th. "Therefore be ye also ready, for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh."

The funeral of Jno. W. Hunt will be preached here July 19th by Rev. Roberts.

THE INDIANA STATE PHYSIO-MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

WINCHESTER, IND., June 23, 1870.
The Indiana State Physio-Medical Association met in its Eighth Annual Convention, in Winchester, June 21st. In the absence of the President, Dr. J. W. Miller was called to the Chair.

The gentlemen present subscribed to the Constitution and became members of the Association: Drs. W. O. Canaday, J. A. Morehouse, J. M. Smith, Jr., R. B. White, A. A. Abernethy, D. T. Skinner and Oliver Capron.

After reports of officers had been received, and some other business arranged, the election of officers was made, which resulted in calling R. H. Homer, M. D., to the Chair, and re-electing P. M. Terrell, M. D., Sec'y.

The discussion of the first item of business—Affections of the Uterus and its Appendages—occupied the remainder of the day, and part of the morning session of the second day, when several parties who presented themselves were examined in the Clinic, by Prof. Carey, and in one case an operation, for the removal of a superfluous toe, was made by Prof. Hasty.

The second item—Pathology Pulmonalis—was the subject of discussion in the evening session. Among other business in the morning session of the third day, it was decided to have an Annual Address in the evening of the first day of each yearly Convention, and Prof. Hasty was appointed the Orator for next year.

Several parties presented themselves, the Association again gave attention to Clinical medicine. The discussion of Pathology Pulmonalis was continued during part of both sessions of that day, and several members gave their experience in the use and preparation of remedies, and described improvements in Pharmacy.

The Association tendered a vote of thanks to the Hon. Thomas Ward, for his liberal donation of the use of the spacious City Hall, for the accommodation of the Convention, and to Drs. Puckett and Cunningham, and the citizens who so generously entertained the members during their stay.

The Association—as it has done for several years—ordered the reports of its proceedings published in pamphlet form for the use of the profession.

The Executive Committee reported the following business for the next Convention: Fractures of the Clavicle and Femur, Affections of the Rectum, Spasmodic Affections in general, Pharmacy, Clinic, Miscellaneous Business, Reading of Essays, Experience in the use of Remedies, etc., etc.

little, old and young," to ascertain if Mr. Citizen's statement was correct, as did, perhaps, good natured soul's informant, and makes the beautiful comparison "Guthrie is about half as big as Huntsville, (25 inhabitants.)" This, perhaps, will do pretty well for the Crescent city, which has stormed near thirty winters, and still her growing wealth bears a face-simile of early and gone-by days when all was peace and quiet, and W. Keener displayed himself alone in his cooped-up treasure of six goose quill knives and half barlows, with his handful of prints well diversified, &c., ready to greet his customers with due hospitality. But to the point. As above stated, Guthrie was said, at that time, to contain 7 stores, but recently 3 or 4 have been taken elsewhere; this, I hope, will atone for last May's statement. With high regard for Huntsville, I have the honor to impart to Mr. Good Natured Soul, thereof, my best wishes, and that he and D. and also his informant will eventually "see through the same specks."

N. Mendenhall.

DEAR CHIEF, June 24, 1870.

As I never have seen this part of Uncle Sam's domain represented by a correspondence, I therefore will try to inform your numerous readers that there actually does exist such a place in Franklin township, Randolph county, Ind. I can testify to having been a resident here for the last 33 years, with the exception of a little over five years spent in Minnesota, from which place I have recently returned to my former home, of which the white, cloying soil and beech roots look very natural.

Crops look much better than could be expected, owing to the long and severe drought; but since the late rains corn is doing fine and bids fair to be a good crop.

Wheat harvesting will commence hereabout the last of next week, but not be over a half crop. Oats and grass will be light. Apples and peaches a fair crop. No cherries to speak of.

The M. E. Church held their first Quarterly Meeting near Olive Branch, in a grove, on last Saturday and Sunday. Rev. Elder Phillips delivered a very eloquent and interesting sermon to a large audience in the forenoon, and Rev. John A. Moorman in afternoon, on Sunday.

As this is my first letter from this place, I will not attempt to occupy more space or worry your patience, but you may hear from me again.

L. W. SHERMAN.

[Let us hear from you often.—Eds. JOURNAL.]

LOSANTVILLE, June 21, 1870.
I will send you the only plindroms that I now recollect to have seen published. The first was when Adam introduced himself to Eve. "Mad'm I'm Adam." The next was when Bonaparte was asked if he ever was able to have succeeded London. He replied "Able was I E're I saw Elba."

The next was perpetrated during the war of the late rebellion, and is as follows: "Sung & ravy was Hannah Mot & L, e're I & tom hannah saw var and guns."

In addition to the above, I will say that the prospect for corn never was better at this time in the season, in this township; a few promising fields of wheat and oats, a large proportion of the wheat, oats and flax, a failure; health good. The 15th Annual Convention of the Indiana State Physio-Medical Association, some of whom had lived to good old age before they put on their manhood, which I think they are willing to acknowledge they were helped to buy railroads.
